PODD

- "About 60% of people with learning disabilities have some skills in symbolic communication, such as sign languages or picture symbols.

- People with learning disabilities are unable to exercise real choice in their own life, as they may not have the means or the opportunities. Individuals are at risk of not being asked their opinions due to their communication problems. There are many day-to-day tasks and events that people with learning disabilities are routinely excluded from.

- Low tech or just an AAC strategy will be there regardless of tech advance (which we like too!)

Just this week....
